

A New Day
In Eagle Proof
History.

A first for American Eagle Proof Coins.

For the first time, all of the gold coins will bear the "W" of the West Point Mint. Even if you have some gaps in your Eagle Proof collection, this is not the year to miss out.

This common mint mark will have a great bearing on the Four-Coin Set. If you've never bought the Set, then this is the right time to add one to your collection. If you make it an annual purchase, then this is no year to put it off.

You only have a limited time to buy.

Don't wait until the last minute. The sales period is limited. Plus, the moment any of the Gold Eagle Proofs sell out individually, the Four-Coin Set will no longer be available.

Your opportunity to purchase these gold coins begins September 23, 1994, and ends December 31, 1994. The sooner you order, the better chance you have of making them a part of your collection.

The evolution of a classic.

In the early part of this century, President Theodore Roosevelt turned to world-renowned sculptor

Augustus Saint-Gaudens to create a coin that equalled those of ancient Greece. The result was a beauty named "Liberty," and a coin which Roosevelt proclaimed "... the best coin that has been struck for 2000 years."

Today, the design that prompted those words is the inspiration for the 1994 American Eagle Gold Proof Coins.

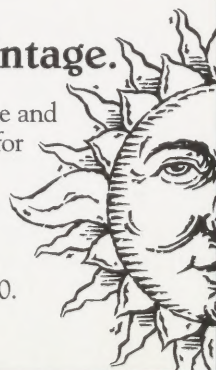

The Silver Proof is no less spectacular. It revives the classic "Walking Liberty," originally created in 1916 by Saint-Gaudens' assistant, A.A. Weinman.

Radiant beauty.

The highly-detailed image of Liberty seems to float on the coin. That's because coin blanks are hand fed into presses fitted with special dies. Then each side is struck at least twice, so that Liberty's frosted image appears in exquisite detail on a mirrored field. This is followed by a gloved-hand inspection. What you receive is perfection – assured by the exacting standards of the U.S. Mint. And because they are sealed in a plastic capsule and mounted in an elegant velvet display case, they will continue to shine through the years.

The value of low mintage.

Naturally, it is rarity that gives a coin value and makes it collectible. Individual mintages for the 1994 American Eagle Gold Proof coins are the lowest of any collector coin currently offered by the U.S. Mint – with most under 55,000. The popular Silver Eagle Proof Coin is minted at only 500,000.

With such limited mintages, the Four-Coin Set becomes even more valuable. It will no longer be available once any gold Proof Coin sells out individually.

DESIGNED AND PRINTED IN U.S.A.

There's never been a better reason to buy a Four-Coin Set.

1994 marks a special moment in American Eagle Proof Coin history. For the first time, all of the Gold Eagle Proof Coins will be minted together at West Point.

Each of the gold coins of the Four-Coin Set (1 oz., 1/2 oz., 1/4 oz., 1/10 oz.) comes sealed in a protective plastic capsule. The set is mounted in a luxurious, velvet display case.

And remember, if any one of the gold coins sells out, the Four-Coin Set will no longer be available.

You can't afford to miss this unique numismatic opportunity. Order today.

Dear Mint Customer:

As the new Director of the United States Mint, I am beginning to understand why American Eagle Proof Coins are so special, to collectors and to the people who work at the Mint.

Certainly as someone who regularly makes the Four-Coin Set part of your collection, you are familiar with the history behind the design of these coins. The American Eagle has given new life to Augustus Saint-Gaudens' original "Liberty."

1994 will be remembered as a special year in the history of the American Eagle Proof Coins.

This year, American Eagle Proofs have a feature that should make them of even greater interest to collectors, especially the Four-Coin Set. For the first time ever, all of the Gold Proof coins will be minted at the West Point Mint. The distinctive "W" will grace all four of these coins.

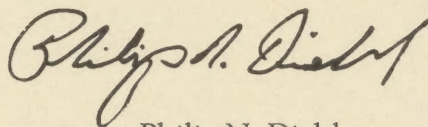

Because of this added feature of collectibility, you will want to order quickly. Gold Proof sales are limited to just over three months — September 23 until December 31, 1994. And once any one of them sells out, the Four-Coin Set will no longer be available.

There is some other news that I am pleased to announce. In our continuous dedication to our most loyal customers, we've worked hard to keep prices and mintage levels from rising. And we've succeeded. Prices are the same as last year, and individual mintages for the 1994 American Eagle Gold Proofs are the lowest of any collector coin currently offered by the U.S. Mint.

I know you have found American Eagle Proof Coins to be a treasured part of your collection. As you consider the landmark nature of the 1994 coins, please remember that they will be available only for a limited time. I truly appreciate your interest in these gold coins and the United States Mint.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, reading "Philip N. Diehl". The signature is fluid and cursive, with the first name "Philip" being the most prominent part.

Philip N. Diehl
Director
United States Mint

P.S. Please remember, as soon as any one of the gold coins sells out individually, the Four-Coin Set will no longer be available. If you are interested in the Four-Coin set, I advise you to buy early.
